

“The Knight's Move: Social Change in an Age of Consolidated Power”

A Talk by Dr. Sanford Schram

**Wednesday, October 5, 3 p.m., Moore Hall I, followed by a reception.****

Sanford Schram is a Professor of Political Science at Hunter College, where he also teaches courses on public policy. His research is focused on the politics of welfare, poverty, inequality and other topics related to the subjugation of subordinate populations in the United States. Dr. Schram is the author of six books, co-author, co-editor or editor of eight others, and author or co-author of more than 170 scholarly articles. His commentary and analysis appear frequently in the press and online. Dr. Schram is the only person to have twice received the American Political Science Association's Michael Harrington Book Award, for “an outstanding book that demonstrates how scholarship can be used in the struggle for a better world.”

Praise for The Return of Ordinary Capitalism (Oxford University Press, 2015):

“A beam of light by one of today's most incisive theorists of neoliberalism and struggles of resistance and transformation... His writing takes us on journeys that are invigorating, insightful, and indispensable.”

-- Rom Coles, Social Justice Institute, Australian Catholic University

“One need not agree with Schram's arguments to be profoundly instructed and moved by them.”

-- Wendy Brown, University of California, Berkeley

Sponsored by the Political Science Department

Presentation made possible through the generosity of the Krakowski family.
